

Software Developer

Location: Guernsey

The Role

As a Software Developer, you'll help build, maintain and improve Titan's core systems. Working closely with the development team, you'll create reliable, maintainable and easy-to-use applications that support business operations and meet industry regulations.

The successful candidate will be responsible for the following key areas:

Key Responsibilities

- Software development: help design, develop, test, and maintain the company's internal applications. Write clean, well-structured code and make sure systems run smoothly. You'll also help fix bugs, improve existing features and keep documentation up to date.
- Data warehouse development: support the development of the company's data warehouse by building ELT processes that move data from internal systems into the warehouse. You'll also help create data models used for reporting and analysis.
- Learning and development: keep improving your technical skills and stay up to date with the latest changes to technologies to help strengthen the team's knowledge.

Additional Requirements

We're looking for someone who works well in a team and is comfortable in a busy environment. It's important that you can understand business needs and turn them into technical solutions, even when working with non-technical users.

You will need to have:

- Strong knowledge of T-SQL / Microsoft SQL Server.
- 3+ years' experience developing with C# and .NET.
- Excellent data analysis skills.
- Experience with software development and software release management methodologies, including a good understanding of branching strategies.
- Experience with Microsoft Dynamics CRM will be beneficial.
- An interest in or willingness to learn about stockbroking, investment management and financial services to better support the systems used by the business.
- Willingness to travel, as this role may also involve travel to other offices.

Why Join Us?
