COMMENTARY

For the month of December, the fund posted 0.2% versus the IA Sector 40-85% of 0.6%, bringing the year-to-date figures to 9.8% and 11.0% respectively.

No trades took place on the Growth Fund for December, although that does not mean that there has not been plenty of work behind-the-scenes to ensure that the fund is great shape to face 2026 no matter what Mr Trump may throw at us.

In terms of top and bottom performers for December:

The regional equities which are exposed to both Europe and the UK were the strongest performers for the month, with both regions posting more than 2%. Conversely, global equities were marginally negative on the month, as was the US. Essentially, a steady European Central Bank and Bank of England coupled with politically stable regions, and this has been recognised during the year.

From a thematic and emerging markets perspective, Ashmore Frontier Markets was the best performer on the month at just over 2%. This was closely followed by the more growth-centric or technology funds. Our waste and water along with utilities, suffered during the month with both down just over 2%. The utilities sector fell as investors rotated out of defensive sectors into riskier growth stocks, driven by the Federal Reserve cutting rates and increased market optimism, making "boring" utilities less attractive despite their stable fundamentals.

Whilst the bond allocation for the Fund is relatively small at approximately 13%, it is pleasing to see that all the exposures were positive on the month, as credit spreads tightened on the back of the Fed rate cut in December.

As we enter 2026, we will as ever be mindful of the environment in which we are navigating and will take action where appropriate. Once again, we thank you for your support in your investment in the Fund.
